

Redefining Schools
Date of Pub.: 2017-12
ISBN: 978-7-300-24606-2
Number of Words: 200 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Li Xigui is the President of Beijing National Day School. Since 1990s, he has proposed a lot of theme experiments about middle and high schools' Chinese study, which are based on a large quantity of readings. Besides, he also presides over the New School Behavior Study, promotes the reform on student cultivation, and constructs an ecological system model for schools, with the features of a multiple subjects, flat management structure, and selective courses.
About the Content
This book is a selection of the lectures on education of the President Li Xigui in the recent five years. The eleven reports in this book are mainly the speeches on the National Annual Meeting about New School Activity from 2012 till the present time. Most content in this book is related to school's governance structure, course structure, and construction of teacher, especially to the course structure.

The Texture of Memory: Media, Trauma and the Nanjing Massacre
Date of Pub.: 2017-12
ISBN: 978-7-300-25204-9
Number of Words: 204 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Li Hongtao, PhD in Communications at City University of Hong Kong (2010), is an associate professor at the School of Media and International Culture and the Institute of International Culture and Social Thought of Zhejiang University. Besides, he is also a researcher at the Institute of the History of the Nanjing Massacre and International Peace. He mainly studies media and collective memory, media sociology, and international communication. Huang Shunming, PhD in Communications at City University of Hong Kong (2011), is a deputy researcher of the School of Literature and Journalism of Sichuan University and a researcher of the Institute of the History of the Nanjing Massacre and International Peace. He mainly studies media and collective memory, honorary sociology, and journalism sociology.
About the Content
As the first work that studies collective memory of the Nanjing Massacre in China, this book deeply studies construction of the trauma and shaping of memory derived from the Nanjing Massacre. It regards the history and different medium occasions as the traces to expose how national power, regional memory community, mass media shape the memory politics and culture on contemporary China from the Nanjing Massacre.

Renmin University of China Report on China Law Development 2016: China Rule of Law Index Based on 9 Provinces Data
Date of Pub.: 2017-12
ISBN: 978-7-300-25321-3
Number of Words: 384 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Zhu Jingwen is a professor and doctoral supervisor of the School of Law, the President of the Academic Committee of the School of Law, and the Director of the Center for Research on Law and Globalization at Renmin University of China.
About the Content
From the systems of legal regulatory, operation of rule of law, supervision on rule of law, protection on rule of law, laws and regulations for the Communist Party of China, and influence of rule of law, this book evaluates the situation of rule of law in 11 provinces and cities by different indexes via questionnaire. The primary objects are the nine provinces in the eastern, middle, and western regions in China.

Supply Side Reform: Methodology and Practical Logic
Date of Pub.: 2017-12
ISBN: 978-7-300-24793-9
Number of Words: 282 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Jiang Xiaoguo, PhD, is an associate professor and post graduate supervisor of the School of Business at Anhui University of Technology. Besides, he is also a council member of China Association of Regional Economy.
About the Content
When Chinese economy is stepping into the New Normal and enduring the transformation from extensive to intensive form for economic growth, supply side reform is an essential requirement. According to this, this book regards supply side reform as the main trace to respectively discuss the connotation of, three main theoretical pillars of, and three practical logics for supply side reform from micro- to macro-development.

Education in Film: Reflection on Education and Life through Film
Date of Pub.: 2017-12
ISBN: 978-7-300-25090-8
Number of Words: 200 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Chen Dawei is a professor and postgraduate supervisor of the College of Teachers of Chengdu University, who has committed himself in studying development of teachers, teachers' professional growth, and reform of courses and teaching methods from the stand of teachers and practice.

About the Content
This book picks 30 movies for reflection, which discusses educational ideas, self recognition, professional growth, course setting, teaching method, professional plan, life choice, communication, etc. It aims to interpret educational phenomena from highly condensable film cases, exposes practical enlightenment from successful cases, discuss underlying reasons of difficult cases, and provide solutions to different issues.

The Survey Report on HR Career Development in China 2016
Date of Pub.: 2017-12
ISBN: 978-7-300-25293-3
Number of Words: 330 thousand words
Authorized Version: None

About the Author
Zhou Wenxia is a professor and the Vice President of the School of Labor and Human Resources at Renmin University. She was a senior visiting scholar at Berkeley University of California. She mainly studies organizational behavior, career management, and human resource.

About the Content
Targeting at relevant professional groups, the author conducts a continuous large-scale investigation and research from school to working place, which focuses on the situation and predictable elements of subjective and objective career success for the students and employees on Human Resources in their occupational development. On this basis, this book discovers the relationship between various elements and subjective and objective career success, which tries to establish a longitudinal predictable model for HR employees on their occupational development.

Transforming Urban Governance
Date of Pub.: 2017-12
ISBN: 978-7-300-25166-0
Number of Words: 211 thousand words
Authorized Version: None

About the Author
Yang Hongshan is a professor and doctoral supervisor of the School of Public Management and the Director of Public Finance and Policy at Renmin University of China. Besides, he is also the Deputy Secretary General of the National Education Steering Committee for the Postgraduate Majoring in Public Management. He mainly studies intergovernmental relation, urban governance, China's policy process, etc.

About the Content
From the perspective of public service, this book defines "the city" as a gathering place for excellent public service resources. From this point, this book proposes that the basic task for urban governance is to provide excellent public service and keep the sustainability of fiscal revenue.

Asset Management and Distribution under Economic Transformation
Date of Pub.: 2018-01
ISBN: 978-7-300-25323-7
Number of Words: 313 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
The Private Bank of China Minsheng Bank has a professional team which embodies a complex background with the bank, asset management, securities trader, investment bank, the four big accounting firms, and foreign bank.
About the Content
This book selects the research reports on investment written by the Investment Research Office of the Department of Private Bank of China Minsheng Bank's Head Office, which covers macro economy, securities market, stock market, distribution strategies for large category of asset, management on family asset, foreign investment, investment and investment banks, etc. Some of the reports are the classical cases that the Department of Private Bank of China Minsheng Bank provides asset management service.

The Socialist Legal System with Chinese Characteristics: An Interpretation of Its Structure, Principles and Institutions
Date of Pub.: 2018-01
ISBN: 978-7-300-24992-6
Number of Words: 243 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Zhu Jingwen is a professor and doctoral supervisor of the School of Law, the President of the Academic Committee of the School of Law, and the Director of the Center for the Research on Law and Globalization at Renmin University of China.
About the Content
Targeting on development of China's socialist rule of law, this book elaborately introduces the formation process and current situation of development of Chinese socialist legal system. According to the announcement from the Law Commission of National Congress, this book explains the category and concrete situation of constitution and its relevant laws, criminal law, civil law, commercial law, administration law, economic law, procedural and non-litigation procedure law, and law of society, which is of guidance function to get to know China's legal frame and system and research on different laws.

2017 Report on Unemployment Assistance in China
Date of Pub.: 2018-01
ISBN: 978-7-300-25384-8
Number of Words: 141 thousand words
Authorized Version: None

About the Author
Han Keqing is a professor of the School of Labor and Human Resources, who mainly studies social welfare and insurance and comparative social policy.
About the Content
On one hand, this book provides elaborate illustration on the basic concept, international experience, and employment situation of contemporary China's vulnerable families. On the other hand, it provides fresh materials for current situation, performance, and problems on understanding the employment assistance under China's circumstance via social organizations about Shanghai's employment service and employment work at the JA District in Shanghai.

Theoretical Reconstruction and Legislative Idea of Chinese Business Law
Date of Pub.: 2018-01
ISBN: 978-7-300-25232-2
Number of Words: 310 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Wang Jianwen is the President, a professor, and doctoral supervisor of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences of Nanjing University of Aeronautics and Astronautics, who mainly studies business law.
About the Content
Combining the latest revision of civil and business law, this book completely and systematically introduces various issues in business law, which includes enterprise law, bankrupt law, securities law, law of negotiable instrument, insurance law, and maritime law. The General Discussion Part discusses the general issues in commercial law with Chinese practice and the ones that are impossible to be referred to in China Commercial Law , while the Subordinate Part focuses on several influential and significant laws in commercial law and analyzes the theoretical issues in these concrete commercial areas.

Emperor Qianlong and His Time
Date of Pub.: 2018-01
ISBN: 978-7-300-25200-1
Number of Words: 386 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Dai Yi is a first-class professor and the Director of the Institute of Qing History of Renmin University of China, who has been receiving the special allowance from the State Council. He has studied Chinese revolution and modern history for a certain period of time. And then he transformed his interest to the study about the history of Qing Dynasty, from which he is also one of the founders of the Qing Dynasty History Subject.
About the Content
Rooted in the world's history, this book widely collects various documents and archives in China and around the world. Illustrating more than 80 years' life journey of Emperor Qianlong, this book expresses vivid historical scenes about politics, economy, military force, cultural, and foreign affairs in the ancient China. It combines rigorous facts with beautiful narrations and also introduces the trace of world's history, which bestows a historical feeling to readers from the interaction between China and the world. Accordingly, readers can have a clear understanding on Emperor Qianlong's feeling about the Great Kingdom at that time and his worries about the flourishing age, and then reflect the closed situation of China during that time.

2017 Study Report of Internet Society in China
Date of Pub.: 2018-01
ISBN: 978-7-300-25252-0
Number of Words: 234 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Liu Shaojie is the Deputy Director of the Center for Studies of Sociological Theory & Method, a professor, and doctoral supervisor at Renmin University of China. He mainly studies contemporary institutional structure of Chinese society, change of ideology and behavior, new schools and trends of contemporary overseas sociology theories, and theories and practices of new economic sociology.
About the Content
This book is the annual report of development of Chinese internet society. Through listing several hot topics of internet issues, this book analyzes social ideology, social behavior, group's characteristics, and social security from the perspective of sociology.

Anthropology in Cultural Transformation
Date of Pub.: 2018-01
ISBN: 978-7-300-25188-2
Number of Words: 381 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Zhao Xudong is the Director of the Institute on Anthropology, a professor and doctoral supervisor of the School of Sociology and Population Studies, and a specially employed researcher of the Center of Sociology Theory and Methodology at Renmin University of China. He mainly studies rural social structure and legal anthropology studies during dispute resolution, Chinese consciousness and growth of modern Chinese ideas, society of customary law in the regions inhabited by ethnic groups, comparative study between ecology and cultural mechanism, etc.
About the Content
Rooted in the reality of multi-centric world and the possibility of the entire culture, the author proposes that Chinese anthropology needs to confront the interaction among different civilizations and possible ideal situation for the anthropology during the transformation from the micro study on Chinese villages to the macro one on the anthropology about Chinese civilization.

China during the Qing Dynasty and the World
Date of Pub.: 2018-01
ISBN: 978-7-300-25255-1
Number of Words: 380 thousand words
Authorized Version: None
About the Author
Dai Yi is a first-class professor and the Director of the Institute of Qing History of Renmin University of China, who has been receiving the special allowance from the State Council. He has studied Chinese revolution and modern history for a certain period of time. And then he transformed his interest to the study about the history of Qing Dynasty, from which he is also one of the founders of the Qing Dynasty History Subject.
About the Content
This is a compilation of Mr. Dai Yi's several monographs, including Beiyang Navy, The Sino-Russian Treaty of Nerchinsk in 1689, and China in the 18th Century and the World. These monographs are the ones published in the early days with profound academic influence. Through this revision, the content of these monographs are more elaborate.	